Determining Financial Need

Based on the information provided by you and your family on the FAFSA, an Expected Family Contribution (EFC) is determined. This is the amount that you are expected to pay for educational expenses. Your financial need is the difference between the cost of attendance at an institution and the EFC. The types and amounts of available aid may differ from institution to institution. Federal, institutional and state financial aid programs may utilize the federal aid methodology when awarding need-based aid.

Federal Financial Aid Programs

Federal student aid is a resource to assist you in paying for your education. In order to apply for federal aid, you must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) each year. You may obtain information and apply online at any time after January 1 of the students senior year in high school. Avila University encourages you to complete and submit the FAFSA by March 1 in order to receive priority consideration for all types of aid. Go to www.fafsa.ed.gov.

State Financial Aid Programs

Missouri provides a variety of financial assistance programs to help students and their families pay for college. These programs require students to be legal Missouri residents and United States citizens, or eligible non-citizens, and may require you to file the FAFSA. Awards are based on academic merit and financial need. State assistance may not be used to pursue a degree or certificate in Theology or Divinity. Where required, FAFSA must be filed by March 1, 2010.
